

To Whom It May Concern,

Before Brandon started his externship here at Chicago Public Schools, I was informed that he has an interest in educational audiology and working with children with hearing loss. He has definitely proven this interest so far and has displayed an inquisitive energy and attention to care for every student that we have discussed and met with since he began his placement. I appreciate his self-confidence and willingness to be a part of the conversation when discussing what options are best for a student to hear well in the classroom setting. He has an open ear to what parents feel are the strengths and needs of their child and is able to combine that with his experience to suggest and talk through positive solutions for the children I have seen him work with. I've seen him put forth effort into researching topics that we've discussed and returning with additional viewpoints and also discussing with his colleagues their experiences and sharing their input as well. He has been a courteous, prompt, professional, and knowledgeable student and I would definitely recommend him to receive this scholarship. Please reach out to me if any additional information is needed, thank you.

Todd Sheldon M.A., CCC-A
Educational Audiologist
Office of Diverse Learner Supports and Services-
Chicago Public Schools
trsheldon@cps.edu